Poll Book for Berkshire, 1727

Introduction

This CD presents a transcript of the poll book identifying the voters for the 'Knights of the Shires' in the General Election of 1727.

'Knights of the Shires' is a term applied to the Members of Parliament who sat for the County of Berkshire as opposed to those members representing boroughs or other places privileged to select their own MPs. In Berkshire there were two MPs for the Shire, two each for Windsor, Reading and Wallingford and one for Abingdon. The elections in the boroughs are not detailed in this poll book, although many residents of the above boroughs were entitled to vote for the Shire MPs and hence are listed.

This is not a list of those entitled to vote, but a list of those who did vote. It includes details of who voted for whom - there was no secret ballot in those days.

1727

The year in which this election took place saw the deaths of two major historical characters. King George I, the first Hanoverian monarch died on the 12th June to be succeeded by his son, George II. The 31st March saw the death of one of the greatest ever Britons, Sir Isaac Newton; his work in mathematics and physics were revolutionary. Alexander Pope summed his impact up in a short verse:

*Nature and Nature's laws lay hid in night:
God said, Let Newton be! and all was light.*

Politically there were still serious concerns about the Hanoverian succession; many still supported the Stuart cause. While there were political tendencies known as Whig and Tory the political party was still a thing of the future. Whigs tended to be firmly protestant, often non-conformist and were opposed to absolute monarchy, essentially the remnants of the parliamentarians of the civil wars of the previous century; the Tories were more likely to be Anglo or even Roman Catholic and had the support of the more traditionalist voters who perhaps felt that the wrong side won the civil wars. It is often assumed that they supported the restoration of the Stuart succession, and many did, though many more were pragmatic enough to support the general Tory ideals without seeing the need to replace the Hanoverians. The general trend was for the Shires to return a higher proportion of Tories while the Borough representatives were more likely to be Whigs. The election of 1727 was during a period of Whig ascendancy, the Tory cause not being helped by the Jacobite rebellion of 1715.

However, the government was formed by a group of individuals not by a party. Whoever could command the most support in the House of Commons would run the country. At this time this was Horace Walpole, often classed as Britain's first prime minister, though the title of prime minister would not officially appear until 1905 when Henry Campbell-Bannerman was the first to be appointed to that position. Walpole, a Whig, served as First Lord of the Treasury from 1722 to 1742, such was his power that he became known as the First Minister and sometimes, derisively, the Prime Minister. In 1728 he earned the enmity of much of Ireland when he removed the right to vote from Roman Catholics in that country; they were already disenfranchised in England.

The Election

Who could vote?

Voting rights in the Shire or County elections was limited to freeholders (effectively disenfranchising Catholics, who were not allowed to own land); consequently the electorate was small. In the Berkshire election two members were elected to parliament so each elector could, if they wished, choose two of the available candidates.

To Poll or not to Poll?

In contrast to modern elections the call to vote was in fact a rarity. In most elections the nebulous group usually referred to as the 'County interest' decided in advance who was to represent which area and ensured that the number of candidates matched the seats available, doing away with the need for an election. This was very obviously not democracy, as we know it. But the cost of elections was borne by the candidates and their supporters; if an MP had to defend his seat at every general election it could quickly lead to bankruptcy. The expenses were not only the costs of holding the poll, wages of tellers, the cost of erecting polling booths etc. but included the cost of transporting voters to the poll and paying for their overnight accommodation, meals etc if they came any distance. In the 1812 election the defeated party, William Hallet, broke with this tradition and proudly stated that everyone who supported him did so at their own expense. However, he got less than a third of the votes of his rivals.

However, there were occasions when the status quo was challenged and a vote was required. This became ever more likely as the fervour for political reform grew in the early 19th century resulting in the Great Reform Act of 1832.

The Candidates

Charles, Lord Viscount Fane of the Kingdom of Ireland. The title, along with that of Baron of Loughguire was created in 1718, as it suggests, within the Irish peerage. He was courtier and a major landowner in both England and Ireland but his roots were in Berkshire. He was baptised in Basildon in 1676, second son of Sir Henry Fane. His elder brother Henry Bouchier Fane was killed in a duel in 1696. This left him heir to his father's title and estates; he also took over from his brother as the Standard Bearer of the Gentleman Pensioners a post he held from 1696 to 1712. In 1715 he was appointed Deputy Lieutenant for Berkshire. In 1727 he was standing as a Whig candidate for parliament. Following his elevation to the Irish peerage he was appointed a member of the Irish privy council in 1725. He died in 1744 and was buried at Basildon.

On 12th December 1707 he married Mary daughter of the hon. Alexander Stanhope, (the youngest son of the first Earl of Chesterfield) at the Chelsea Hospital.

Mary Fane was an old friend of the Mistress of the Robes, Sarah Churchill, Duchess of Marlborough, having been one of the six original Maids of Honour to Queen Anne, appointed 4th June 1702, an office she had vacated by November 1707. Robert Walpole was a witness the prenuptial 'indenture of settlement' that set her marriage portion at £3,000. In the 1720s and 30s she built the Fane Grotto at their new house by the Thames at Lower Basildon.

Sir John Stonehouse Bt was a landowner in the north of the county his full title being the 3rd Baronet Stonehouse and 6th Baronet Stonehouse of Radley. He was first elected MP for Berkshire in 1701 and served until his death in 1733. He was forced to defend his seat on two occasions, in 1722 and 1727. He came from a parliamentary family, his father and grandfather both sat for Abingdon where the family had considerable influence over the selection of MPs for generations. He was a lifelong Tory who served as Comptroller of Queen Anne's Household in 1713-14.

During the period 1721 to 1727 Sir John built a new mansion at Radley that was, in 1847 converted into a school, Radley College, which was to become one of the country's leading public schools. His sister Elizabeth married the 3rd Lord Byron, and was thus the great grandmother of the poet.

Robert Packer of Shellingford was first elected to parliament in an unopposed by-election following the elevation of his brother-in-law Henry St John to the peerage as Baron St John of Lydiard Tregoze and Viscount Bolingbroke, in 1712. His marriage to Mary St John associated him firmly with the Tory cause for the St Johns were strong supporters of Charles I during the civil war and had served the Stuarts in exile. In 1723 his father-in-law (also Henry) had made his peace with the government and returned to England to be restored in his estates but not his title which had been stripped from him on the succession of George I. The Packers had supported Parliament in the civil wars although their Berkshire stronghold of Donnington Castle was occupied early in the war by a Royalist garrison and held out for three years against several Parliamentary attacks.

His marriage also joined the Packer fortunes with that of the Winchcombes of Bucklebury and Jack of Newbury fame. Mary was heir to this estate, which passed through the female line on several occasions.

Robert served as MP for Berkshire until his death in 1731 to be succeeded by his son Winchcombe Howard Packer of Donnington.

Patronage

In Berkshire the boroughs of Wallingford and New Windsor were in the pockets of rich patrons. In his book 'An entire and complete history, political and personal, of the boroughs of Great Britain' in 1792, Thomas Oldfield declined to name the patron at Windsor:

“The patron of this borough cannot with propriety be named, lest we might incur the rebuke of royalty.”

He was less constrained when discussing Wallingford:

“Although this borough is not under the immediate influence of any nobleman or opulent commoner. The highest bidder is always chosen. No other influence is known to prevail there, except that of the nabob, Sir Francis Sykes.”

Abingdon and Reading had, as Oldfield put it, “not yet been subjected to the arbitrary influence of any opulent individual.” Obviously by this time the Stonehouse influence had waned.

Regarding the shire Oldfield writes:

“The interest of Lord Craven has generally sufficient weight to influence the election of one representative: the other depends on the attachments of a few of the leading property in the county to the ministry or opposition of the time being.”

Reform, or resistance to it, was to be the downfall of the Tories. In 1832 they lost humiliatingly in a general election in which the one issue was the proposed Reform Act. Out of the ashes of the Tory party Robert Peel was to build a new Conservative party, but that is another story.

The Election

The progress of most elections can be followed through the pages of national and local newspapers, but this election was held in the very early years of the publication of the major local Berkshire paper, the Reading Mercury. Sadly no issues for 1727 have survived. However, the form of the election would be as followed for many future polls. First there would be a meeting of the freeholders of the county in Reading. In most elections this meeting would acclaim the election of the only two candidates presented to them and would turn into a social occasion. However, a third candidate would occasionally be put forward. In such instances the Reading meeting would acclaim two 'victors' and the Sheriff of the County would announce the 'winners' of this shouting contest before calling the inevitable poll that would decide upon the real victors of the election.

Polling

The polling took place in Abingdon on Wednesday the 30th August. This was a very quick election, it is not unknown for polls to last two weeks. Voters often had to travel some distance to the polling station; a trip to Abingdon before the arrival of the railways was very inconvenient for those living in the more distant parts of the county. It is clear that many did not make the effort despite being qualified to vote; a comparison of polls in 1812 and 1818 shows large variations in who voted from where, far more than could be explained by changes in land ownership over six years. Some villages appear in 1818 that do not appear in 1812 and vice versa.

The Result

Each voter could cast two votes as there were two members elected. This led to tactical voting, especially in this election, where voters would deliberately use only one of their votes in order to bias the vote towards their favoured candidate. This poll is unusual in the extent of this practise with the vast majority of voters opting to vote either for Fane alone or for both Stonehouse and Packer. This led to an unusually close contest with the final result being:

Packer	Stonehouse	Fane
1,620	1,558	1319

The number of freeholders polled, during the Election, was 2,806.

Other Poll Books

Poll books are also available for the Shire elections in 1768, 1796, 1812, 1818, and 1820.

There are also poll books for various parliamentary elections for the borough seats in Abingdon, Reading, Wallingford and Windsor.

From 1832 the electoral system changed and electoral rolls were generated annually. These are lists of those entitled to vote, unlike the poll books that only list those who voted. Poll books were generated after 1832 but they have not survived as well as the electoral rolls. The Electoral Registers for Berkshire held by the Berkshire Record Office are sparse for the very early years, 1832 is followed by 1839 (plus a small portion from 1834). However from 1839 very few years are missing.

Berkshire Family History Society has published transcripts of the 1832 Electoral Roll and the poll books for 1727, 1768, 1796, 1812 & 1818 and will produce more Poll Books and Electoral Rolls on CD in the future.

Organisation of the Poll Book

The Poll Book is sorted alphabetically by the place of the qualifying freehold. Within each place the order of names is random (presumably the order in which they voted). However, there are a few instances where the place name alphabetical ordering is not perfect, notably that of Grove which comes at the end of the book.

Some names have an asterisk preceding them in the poll book. It is not known what this indicates. These names are marked in the transcript by a # following the name.

Names

The spelling of names in the transcript follows that used in the poll book. Although this is a list of the more affluent commoners in the county, a group that would be accustomed to attaching their names to many letters, deeds and other records this does not mean that the spellings herein are accurate. The clerk(s) collecting the names may well mishear or misspell and the typesetter of the poll book could easily compound the problem. A comparison of the poll books from two elections within a short period (1812 & 1818) shows many instances of the same freeholder's name being spelt differently. For example John Joys (1812) becomes John Jay (1818), John Irons (1812) becomes John Hyrons (1818) - both examples from Longworth.

The typescript used for this poll book includes use of the letter 'f' to represent a long 's'. Where this has occurred a judgement has been made as to the actual letter intended - so, if you are looking for names where such a judgement might be incorrect check for the alternative spelling eg Cofins (of Abingdon) has been transcribed as Cosins assuming it to be a variant of Cousins.

Using the CD

The information on the CD is presented in Adobe Acrobat form and bookmarking has been used to ensure that location of the entry of interest is straightforward. Bookmarks guide the user to the index or transcript and within these further bookmarks speed access to specific areas.

Searching to find a particular entry can readily be accomplished using Acrobat's find feature (Control F or the binoculars icon). All text in this CD is fully searchable in this fashion.

The Index

To aid the user looking for specific individuals, a name index is supplied on this CD. Names are arranged alphabetically by surname and forename. In two instances aliases are given for voters, in these cases both surnames are indexed.

Each entry refers to the page number of the original book on which the name is to be found. These page numbers are shown at the top right of each page of the transcript.

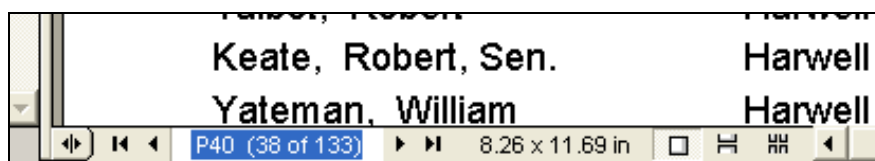

Within the Index, bookmarks are provided for each letter of the alphabet, which will take the user straight to the index page on which names starting with that letter are first shown.

The Transcript

Pages are bookmarked within the Roll every ten pages.

The page can be also be located by typing P followed by the page number and Return (↵) into the page number box in the navigation bar at the bottom of the Acrobat window (see screen shot). Make sure the entire box content is highlighted (as in the screen shot) before typing - clicking on the numbering to the left of the bracketed numbers will select the entire contents.

Abbreviations are reproduced as printed in the original.

Alongside each entry are three columns headed by F, S & P. Crosses in these columns indicate the votes cast by the individual. F is for Fane, S for Stonehouse and P for Packer.
