Poll book for Berkshire, 1796

Introduction

This CD presents a transcript of the poll book identifying the voters for the 'Knights of the Shires' in the General Election of 1796.

'Knights of the Shires' is a term applied to the Members of Parliament who sat for the County of Berkshire as opposed to those members representing boroughs or other places privileged to select their own MPs. In Berkshire there were two MPs for the Shire, two each for Windsor, Reading and Wallingford and one for Abingdon. The elections in the boroughs are not detailed in this poll book, although many residents of the above boroughs were entitled to vote for the Shire MPs and hence are listed.

This is not a list of those entitled to vote, but a list of those who did vote. It includes details of who voted for whom - there was no secret ballot in those days.

1796

This election took place at a time when England was under the threat of invasion by revolutionary France, where a brilliant young general called Napoleon Bonaparte was beginning to make his name.

In science and engineering this was the year when Edward Jenner first demonstrated the effectiveness of inoculation and Aloys Senefelder invented lithography, a revolutionary new printing process - which he kept secret for over 20 years.

The Election

Who could vote?

Voting rights in the Shire or County elections were limited to freeholders; consequently the electorate was small. Voters could vote for more than one candidate. In the Berkshire election two members were elected to parliament so each elector could, if they wished, choose two of the available candidates. Voters could also qualify to vote again in one of the boroughs.

To Poll or not to Poll?

In contrast to modern elections the call to vote was in fact a rarity. In most elections the candidates or their parties decided in advance who was to represent which area; this ensured that the number of candidates matched the seats available, doing away with the need for an election. This was very obviously not democracy as we know it. But the cost of elections was borne by the candidates and their supporters; if an MP had to defend his seat at every general election it could quickly lead to bankruptcy.

However, there were occasions when the status quo was challenged and a vote was required. This became ever more likely as the fervour for political reform grew in the early 19th century resulting in the Great Reform Act of 1832.

The Candidates

The first candidate, representing the Tory interest, was George Vansittart who served as one of Berkshire's MPs from 1780 to 1812. 1796 was the first election at which he declared his adherence to the Tory cause; previously he had stood as a non-partisan candidate. Vansittart was the sixth son of Arthur Vansittart of Shottesbrook, MP for Berkshire 1757-66. As sixth in line to the family wealth he needed to make his own mark on the world - and did. He made his fortune in the East India Company as Chief of the Company's factory at Patna. He was a friend of the first Governor-General, Warren Hastings. When Hastings was famously impeached in 1787 Vansittart gave evidence in his defence. In 1780 he returned to England and bought Bisham Abbey (now famous as one of the UK's four National Sports Centres). His nephew Nicholas also stood for parliament in 1796 winning a seat for Hastings. In 1812, the year his uncle retired from the House, Nicholas was appointed Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The second candidate, Charles Dundas of Barton Court, Kintbury, was to become the dominant political figure in Berkshire during this period; nominally an independent he represented the Whig interest in the Shire as an MP from 1794 to 1832. Prior to this he sat as MP for the borough of Richmond (1774) and for Orkney and Shetland (1781-4). Although he was returned to Parliament from Berkshire no less than 10 times, he only had to fight elections in 1796, 1812, 1818 and 1820. He was originally adopted as member for Berkshire in 1794 to replace Winchcombe Henry Hartley (a descendent of Jack of Newbury) who died in office; there was no by-election needed. By 1832 he was an old man and he accepted a peerage as 'Baron Amesbury of Kintbury, Amesbury and Barton Court, in the County of Berks, and of Aston Hall, in the County of Flint'. On his formal introduction to the House of Lords he was presented by Baron Braybrooke who, as Richard Neville was his fellow MP for Berkshire from 1812 (replacing Vansittart) to 1825. Dundas was very active in the west of Berkshire and was pivotal in the development of the Speenhamland system of poor relief, but is chiefly remembered for his part in the development of the Kennet and Avon canal linking Newbury to Bath. A tunnel and aqueduct on this canal both bear his name.

Standing against Vansittart and Dundas was a third candidate, Edward Loveden Loveden, another independent/Whig. Loveden's family acquired Buscot Park in the north west of the county in 1557, but it was this Edward who built the current mansion between 1779 and 1783. Loveden was Sheriff of Berkshire in 1781-2 and MP for Abingdon, 1783-96. He later served as MP for Shaftesbury from 1802 to 1812. In 1793 he was instrumental in founding the Board of Trade. Like Dundas, Loveden's name is also linked with canals and inland navigation; in 1793 he presided over the parliamentary committee tasked with improving the Thames Navigation from Staines to Lechlade. He was also a prime mover behind the Thames & Severn and Wilts & Berks Canals. It is worth noting that the tolls at Buscot lock were among the highest on the Thames and a major source of income for Loveden.

Political Parties

The main political groupings of the day were the Tories and the Whigs. Very broadly speaking these grew out of the supporters of the Stuart succession (Tories) and those supporting the Hanoverian succession (Whigs). By 1796 this distinction was no longer the great issue, members were far more independent than today, or seemingly so. Modern party organisation had yet to emerge and the government of the day would be formed out of a coalition of members with common interests; these tended to be predominately Tory or Whig, but there are many instances of senior figures featuring in successive governments of differing hue. However, despite their freedom from a party whip they were often appointed to parliament by the owner of a rotten borough and were there to serve their patron's interests.

In this contest in Berkshire the three candidates appear to divide on party grounds: Vansittart v Dundas & Loveden, but the division was not this way at all. It was Loveden who was standing against the cosy agreement that so often resulted in uncontested elections, so it was Dundas and Vansittart who banded together against the interloper.

Patronage

In Berkshire the boroughs of Wallingford and New Windsor were in the pockets of rich patrons. In his book 'An entire and complete history, political and personal, of the boroughs of Great Britain' in 1792, Thomas Oldfield declined to name the patron at Windsor:

“The patron of this borough cannot with propriety be named, lest we might incur the rebuke of royalty.”

He was less constrained when discussing Wallingford:

“Although this borough is not under the immediate influence of any nobleman or opulent commoner. The highest bidder is always chosen. No other influence is known to prevail there, except that of the nabob, Sir Francis Sykes.”

Abingdon and Reading had, as Oldfield put it, “not yet been subjected to the arbitrary influence of any opulent individual.”

Regarding the Shire Oldfield writes:

“The interest of Lord Craven has generally sufficient weight to influence the election of one representative: the other depends on the attachments of a few of the leading property in the county to the ministry or opposition of the time being.”

Reform, or resistance to it, was to be the downfall of the Tories. In 1832 they lost humiliatingly in a general election in which the one issue was the proposed Reform Act. Out of the ashes of the Tory party Robert Peel was to build a new Conservative party, but that is another story.

The Election Starts

The process of the election started in Reading on Thursday 26th May, as the Times reported the following Saturday:

“On Thursday last a County Meeting, advertised by the SHERIFF, for nominating Representatives in the ensuing Parliament, was held at Reading, in Berkshire, when Mr VANSITTART, Mr DUNDAS, and Mr LOVEDEN, were put in nomination.

The Sheriff, who came an hour after his own appointment, was accompanied (perhaps accidentally) by Mr LOVEDEN, and when the candidates had been proposed, called for a shew of hands, which he thought proper to declare was in favour of Mr DUNDAS and Mr LOVEDEN.”

Following the meeting a declaration was drawn up “by way of protest” stating that, in the opinion of those protesting, the show of hands was clearly for Vansittart and Dundas and that the Sheriff was mistaken.

The Times closes:

“Intimations being given that one of the Candidates had declared his resolution to carry the County though it should cost him thirty thousand pounds; and that he had already deposited large sums of money in different Banker’s hands for that purpose; a laudable spirit of resistance was roused, and a resolution entered into for a subscription to support the freedom of Election and independence of the County; we hear that it is promoted by the most liberal and determined efforts of the Freeholders, countenanced by the first Characters both in rank and fortune”

The Times article is thinly veiled propaganda for Vansittart and against Loveden, a letter signed ‘An Independent Freeholder’ in the Times of 31st May protests:

“The conduct of the Sheriff gave great-satisfaction to every cool and impartial observer, and the Freeholders departed apparently satisfied with the justice of his declaration, It was not until the evening that the resistance to the declared sense of the Meeting was contrived by some warm partizans of both other candidates, with a view to prejudice Mr LOVEDEN with the friends of each. The cavalcade of Mr LOVEDEN’s friends was of a nature never witnessed at Reading before - respectable and independent Freeholders from the vale, which is still happily divided into small farms and who may fairly be supposed to speak the fair unbiased sense of the County - it was of itself sufficient to contradict the absurd report, that he had declared his intention to spend 30,000L, to carry the County.”

This letter also notes the candidates were proposed and seconded by local notables: Mr Neville of Billingbear proposed Vansittart and was seconded by Mr Golding ; Sir Joseph Andrews of Shaw House proposed Dundas and was seconded by Sir John Throckmorton of Buckland House (if Lord Craven's influence is showing it is here); Mr Atkins of Kingston Lisle proposed Loveden and was seconded by Sir Charles Marsh of Reading. Following the Sheriff's declaration for Dundas and Loveden, Mr Addington (Speaker of the House of Commons) stood up and commended Vansittart to the County following which Vansittart declared his determination to stand and the poll was called.

In other years there would only be two candidates who would be returned to parliament without a poll; the election would be no more than a meeting such as that held in Reading. Indeed the Times was already reporting the names of successful candidates from non-contested seats.

Many of the public would welcome a poll; it meant good trade for the merchants and innkeepers of Abingdon and for those offering a means of transport to and from the polling station. It also meant parties and much activity through the county as the candidates attempted to influence the voters; even those without a vote could enjoy the hustings. Those with a vote could revel in the attentions of the candidates and their supporters and perhaps come out of the process showing a profit.

The issue of the disputed declaration by the Sheriff was, in reality, inconsequential; as soon as three candidates came forward who were determined to stand the meeting in Reading was solely to receive their candidature and call the poll - the show of hands was meaningless.

Polling

The polling took place over a period of 6 days, from the 1st to the 6th of June (excluding Sunday the 5th), this seems like a long period to those used to modern one-day election, but polls could be spread over two weeks as in the Berkshire elections of 1812 and 1818. Voters often had to travel some distance to the polling station, in this case votes had to be registered in Abingdon (then the county town of Berkshire, but now in Oxfordshire). A trip to Abingdon before the arrival of the railways was very inconvenient for those living in the more distant parts of the county. It is clear that many did not make the effort despite being qualified to vote.

The votes were counted each day and a running total was kept; this was reported in the newspapers. The Times reports the state after the first day as Vansittart, 373; Dundas, 320 and Loveden, 295. The newspapers also carried letters from the candidates propagandising their cause and often offering to transport voters to the polls.

Two such letters appear in the Times of 3rd June:

“The FREEHOLDERS of BERKSHIRE, in the Interest of Mr LOVEDEN, are desired to meet at the GLOUCESTER COFFEE-HOUSE, Piccadilly, where Carriages will be ready to convey them to Abingdon, and where the Committee sit daily, to receive every information which may contribute to secure his election.”

Dundas's call for support followed a different track:

“FREEDOM of ELECTION for BERKSHIRE.

In support of an independent Candidate to represent this County in Parliament, a voluntary SUBSCRIPTION is opened by some Friends of CHARLES DUNDAS, Esq at the following Bankers:-

Messrs Vincent, Bailey and Vincent, and Messrs Toomer, Bunny and Slocock, at Newbury.

Messrs Tomkins's and Messrs Child and Co and Abingdon.

Messrs Stephens, Simmonds and Harris, at Reading.

Messrs Ramsbottom and Baverstoke, at Windsor.

Messrs Baron Dimsdale and Co, London.

It is interesting to note that both Vansittart and Dundas use the concept of 'freedom of election' in their propaganda, as if Loveden was attempting to deny some democratic right. In fact both were often returned unopposed thanks to the cosy arrangement amongst the local nobility and gentry.

The Result

The result is reported in the poll book split geographically to indicate the votes cast in various groups of hundreds:

	Vansittart	Dundas	Loveden
Beynhurst, Bray, Cookham and Ripplesmere	314	269	93
Sonning, Charlton and Wargrave	137	70	115
Reading and Theale	226	191	89
Ock, Hormer and Ganfield	169	142	170
Compton, Moreton and Lambourn	134	142	169
Faircross and Kintbury Eagle	223	346	60
Shrivenham, Faringdon and Wantage	129	172	150
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
	1,332	1,332	846

The table clearly shows the local bias for candidates in their home areas

Other Poll books

Poll books are also available for the Shire elections in 1727, 1768, 1812, 1818, and 1820. In addition there are poll books for various parliamentary elections for the borough seats in Abingdon, Reading, Wallingford and Windsor.

From 1832 the electoral system changed and electoral rolls were generated annually. These are lists of those entitled to vote, unlike the poll books that only list those who voted. Poll books were generated after 1832 but they have not survived as well as the electoral rolls. The Electoral Registers for Berkshire held by the Berkshire Record Office are sparse for the very early years, 1832 is followed by 1839 (plus a small portion from 1834). However from 1839 very few years are missing.

Berkshire Family History Society publishes transcripts of the 1812 and 1818 Poll Books and the 1832 Electoral Roll and will produce more Poll books and Electoral Rolls on CD in the future.

Organisation of the Poll book

The Poll book is sorted alphabetically by Name (Surname, Forename). However, there are a few instances where the alphabetical ordering is not perfect.

Each entry gives the name of the voter in the form Surname, Forenames often followed by a title, qualification etc. (Sir, Rev, Esq, DD, jun, sen). Then comes the home address (usually limited to a parish or town) and the address of the qualifying freehold and the hundred code for the freehold (see below). The type of freehold is shown, usually as a message (dwelling), land or both (m & l). The next column is a bonus for family historians as the tenants of the freeholds are shown, so many non-freeholders are listed. The final three columns carry an indication of who the elector voted for.

In 1796 the principal local governance sub-divisions within Berkshire were the Hundreds, these are shown in code alongside each name in the book.

The organisation of Hundreds varied over the years; those used in 1796 are not the same as that found in the Domesday Book of 1086. However, they are the same as that used for the census of 1841.

The list below shows the Hundreds in Berkshire in 1796 and the code numbers used in the poll book:

1 Beynhurst	8 Ganfield	15 Ripplesmere
2 Bray	9 Hormer	16 Shrivenham
3 Charlton	10 Kintbury Eagle	17 Sonning
4 Compton	11 Lambourn	18 Theale
5 Cookham	12 Moreton	19 Wantage
6 Faircross	13 Ock	20 Wargave
7 Faringdon	14 Reading

Names

The spelling of names in the transcript follows that used in the poll book. Although this is a list of the more affluent commoners in the county - a group that would be accustomed to attaching their names to many letters, deeds and other records, this does not mean that the spellings herein are accurate. The clerk(s) collecting the names may well mishear or misspell and the typesetter of the poll book could easily compound the problem. For instance a comparison between the poll books for the elections of 1812 and 1818 showed many instances of the same freeholder's name being spelt differently. For example John Joys (1812) becomes John Jay (1818), John Irons (1812) becomes John Hyrons (1818) - both examples from Longworth.

Using the CD

The information on the CD is presented in Adobe Acrobat form and bookmarking has been used to ensure that location of the entry of interest is straightforward. Bookmarks guide the user to the tenant index or the poll book transcript and within these further bookmarks speed access to specific areas.

Acrobat Search

Searching to find a particular entry can readily be accomplished using Acrobat's find feature (Control F or the binoculars icon). All text in this CD is fully searchable in this fashion.

Tenant Index

As the poll book is an alphabetical list of names there is no need to provide an index to the voters. However, the many tenants listed are not so easy to find, so an index to these is supplied. Names are arranged alphabetically by surname and forename (where given). Each entry refers to the surname of the freeholder against whose name the tenant is shown. Consult the poll book to find additional details, notably the place where the freehold is situated.

The Transcript

The transcript shows the entries from the poll book in the order there were printed, pagination has not been preserved.

Bookmarks (A to Y) are provided to take the user to the first surname starting with the bookmark letter.

Alongside each entry are three columns headed by V, D & L. Crosses in these columns indicate the votes cast by the individual. V is for Vansittart, D is for Dundas and L for Loveden.
